

ICT SPECIALIST VET

Qualified ICT specialists are experts when it comes to using information and communications technologies (ICT) for a wide range of applications and as effectively as possible. They work in support, help users to use ICT tools, install hardware and software, maintain users' ICT devices, and work on ICT orders and admin. They also analyze problems in the ICT area and work with specialists from other areas to find solutions.

Education and training

Course duration

3 years

VET school

Gewerblich-industrielles
Bildungszentrum Zug (GIBZ)

School days

2 days per week in 1st year,
1 day per week in 2nd and 3rd years

Inter-company industry course

Block course in 1st semester

Federal Vocational Baccalaureate

Possible after the apprenticeship

Requirements

- Secondary school completed (middle grade, level B)
- Good results in languages and mathematics
- Interested in, and a flair for, all types of user end devices and IT
- Enjoys dealing with people, teamworking skills
- Networked thinking
- Independent and sociable

Future prospects

There is a growing demand for ICT specialists. People with ICT skills have a wide range of career opportunities, with jobs available in every sector. There are also many options for further development.

Find out more about the apprenticeship online

bildxzug - a host company offering many options

- Experience ICT infrastructure and practice in different companies*
- In-house seminars, workshops and coaching
- Support from skilled personnel
- Long-term career opportunities via partner network

*bildxzug apprentices can do their placements in up to two different companies of different sizes and different sectors.